Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 17 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Starting rather cloudy and damp. Some brighter spells possible later.

Today:
A mild start, but rather cloudy and damp, with patchy light rain and drizzle. The best of limited brighter intervals should develop in the south and east later, as rain largely dies away. Light winds, extensive low cloud on hills. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Rather cloudy during the evening, although becoming largely dry with some clear spells later to leave a risk of fog patches. Locally chilly by dawn. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Monday:
Brightest during the morning after a chilly start with local fog, with some sunny spells possible. Thickening cloud then spreading eastwards later, culminating in a little rain in places. Warm. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Unsettled and rather windy through this period, with spells of rain and blustery heavy showers. Temperatures starting well above average, but trending downwards after midweek.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.